

Open Arms is looking for a social media manager to join our current marketing team. Main duties will include supporting marketing initiatives, posting minimum of once per week, and supporting quarterly content planning.

Ideally you will have experience with hootsuite, linkedin, facebook, and instagram. Canva is used to create social media posts.

Current marketing initiatives you would support include: promoting the organization, sharing blog posts, resharing external links for drive traffic, and promoting volunteer opportunities.

This position provides the flexibility for an individual to work from home during the hours that are convenient.
